

Close and easy to find

You'll find yourself using your PARK 400 campsite a lot, because it's so convenient. Four miles north of Copalis Beach, on State Highway 109, it's only 2½ hours from either Seattle or Portland.

If you're tired of having to leave early to beat the weekend crowds. If you have fought for your last campsite. If you are fed up with being asked to move on, to make room for another camper, after a few short days, come to our place apart. Join the lucky 300 families who will have their own, private, reserved campsites this year, and every year from now on.

Join us at PARK 400. But come and see us soon, because we can accept only 300 memberships. And they'll go fast!

Park400

P.O. Box 521
Copalis Beach, Washington 98535
Phone 276-4101

Located 4 miles north of Copalis Beach on the Washington Coast.

IN SEATTLE, CONTACT:

PARK 400 / 1020 Logan Building
Seattle 98101 / Phone MA 4-0337

Park400

a Place Apart

The primary idea behind camping is to escape from the tensions of a competitive world. So what's the sense of getting out of the city only to find yourself competing for a camping spot?

If you ever wondered if there is a better or more relaxing way to go camping, PARK 400 is your answer.

If you always have dreamed of your own private campsite on the ocean—one reserved just for you, every day of the year, whenever you wanted to use it—PARK 400 is your answer.

Nestled among tall firs and cedars, on a bluff overlooking the rolling Pacific Ocean, the Northwest's most exciting new camper's club has 300 campsites, each reserved for the exclusive use of one member-family or its guests.

This camper's club is known as PARK 400.

More than a place to camp

PARK 400 is a place apart. As a member, you get far more than a campsite. You have full use of a big, beautiful clubhouse with a year-round heated swimming pool, saunas, fireplace lounge, game room, kitchen, hot and cold showers, and laundry facilities.

You have unlimited access to a huge, quarter-mile expanse of sandy beach, for ocean swimming, clamming and beachcombing. And you have the services of a full-time caretaker/security guard, so you can unhitch your trailer and go—even if you want to leave it on your site for a year-round retreat.

Your campsite is kept rustic to preserve its natural beauty and privacy. You won't sacrifice any comforts, though, because power and water hookups are in and hard-surface roads wind through the entire campground community.

Years of low-cost outdoor fun

Memberships in PARK 400 start at only $2995. The monthly dues, for maintenance and full-time security, are also extremely reasonable. You can look forward to years of camping fun for much less than you'd put into a vacation home—and probably quite a lot less than you have put into your trailer or camper. You'll probably find yourself getting a lot more out of your recreation vehicle, too, when you don't have to go through the frustration of finding and holding a campsite.

And, if you ever decide to leave the Pacific Northwest, your membership may be sold at the price you set, so you could enjoy all those years of camping fun—and all the many extras—virtually for free!

